THE MUSIC EDUCATION DEGREE REQUIREMENTS

The Music Education portion of your degree plan includes a variety of courses designed to prepare you to teach music in the public schools and to be certified by the State of Texas. In addition to the required music education courses, you will also take a total of eighteen (18) hours of Professional Education courses (of which six [6] hours are in music). These eighteen hours are the equivalent to a minor in other degree programs.

Can I graduate in four years? Yes, it can be done, but five years is much more typical. In order to graduate in four years, you will take nearly 18 hours every full semester, in addition to approximately four summer school sessions. A sample plan of how to graduate in four years is enclosed in this handbook. If you come to UNT with credit hours by transfer or examination, you have a better opportunity to graduate early. However, do not rush through your classes just to graduate in four years.

Required Music Education Courses:

Field Experience in the Schools

The Division of Music Education recognizes the need for undergraduates to be able to link the theory of music teaching with its practice. We find it imperative that preservice music educators conduct their observations in the school classrooms under the guidance of experienced, exemplary music educators.

At this time, MUED 2310 and MUED 4203 incorporate field experiences in the schools. Additionally, MUED 4103 and MUED 4109 are site-based classes. Students enrolled in these classes meet in a local public school where they gain invaluable teaching experiences.

DIVISION OF MUSIC EDUCATION POLICY STATEMENT

As you proceed through the Music Education Degree Plan, be aware of the following:

- Before you take your Professional Development Courses, you must be admitted to the College of Education. This requires an overall G.P.A. of 2.75.
- In order to student teach, you must have an overall G.P.A. of 2.75 in the University of North Texas
- In order to student teach, you must have an overall G.P.A. of 2.75 in all coursework including UNT work and transfer work
- In order to student teach, you must have an overall G.P.A. of 2.75 in your professional development courses: MUED 4103 or MUED 4109, MUED 3200, DFST 3123, EDSE 3800
- You must have a minimum grade of C in all EDXX courses
- You must have a minimum grade of C in all Music courses
- All proficiencies must be passed before you student teach
- No coursework should be taken during student teaching
- If you are a full time student, you are expected to be in a lab every fall and spring semester
- If you fail the same music education course two times, your degree status will be changed to music undecided until you are counseled into another degree option.
- MUED 4109 and MUED 4209 should not be taken in the same semester. Any exceptions to this rule must be presented to the Chair of the Division of Music Education for consideration.

Other Requirements

Music Education students must complete a minimum of 7 semesters of lab ensemble. One of the 7 credits may be used for a jazz lab ensemble, with permission of the department. As part of their 7 semesters of lab ensemble, instrumental band students must complete 3 semesters of marching band. Those instrumental band students who are on the instrumental/elementary track are required to take a minimum of 2 marching band credits and 2 vocal lab credits.

Choral Music Education Majors with 60 hours of completed course work and designated at the junior class level are required to participate in Recital Choir. There is no course sign-up or added tuition expense. Rehearsals are held Tuesdays and Thursdays (12:00-12:50) Room: MU232 Orchestra Hall.

There is a basic attendance policy for all music education courses. Students cannot miss more than 3 classes in a given semester for each music education course (not counting university excused absences). If more than 3 classes are missed, the student will earn an "F" for the semester grade for that course. Instructors may have more stringent policies than this basic policy. Please check individual class syllabi for any additional attendance requirements.

ADVISING PROCEDURES AND FILING FOR A DEGREE PLAN

Advising Procedures

You must be advised every semester. Advisors are faculty members who help you determine the classes you should take each semester. They can also help you with whatever problems you might have concerning your degree plan or the classes you are taking. A list of advisors and their advisees will be posted on music education faculty doors and on the music education bulletin board. These lists appear near the time of early registration. Look on the list to find your advisor. If your name does not appear on one of these lists, please contact Dr. Debbie Rohwer (Room 304).

When it is time to register for classes (usually October and February), you need to set up an appointment to meet with your advisor. In order to register for classes, you must visit your advisor. You then bring the advising paperwork to Mrs. Judy Fisher in the advising office to get your advising clearance code. You cannot register without this code. You also must obtain a restriction code from Mrs. Fisher for all the 4000 level Music Education courses. When you go to your advising appointment, bring your schedule of classes, your degree plan, and a list of classes you want to take.

Filing for a Degree Plan

You should file for a degree plan by the end of your sophomore year. The person who prepares degree plans is Mrs. Judy Fisher. Transfer students should file a degree plan in the same semester they enroll at UNT.

Here are the steps to take to file your degree plan:

1. Provide Mrs. Fisher with your transcript. You can either have your transcript sent from the registrar's office to the Music Building or you can bring her a copy of your transcript. Transfer students must provide a copy of their transfer transcript that has been evaluated by the Admissions Office.
2. Make an appointment with Mrs. Fisher for a later date at which time you will discuss your degree plan.
3. Meet with Mrs. Fisher to file (or update) your degree plan.

MUSIC EDUCATION DEPARTMENTAL

Each fall and spring the Division of Music Education invites local, national, and international figures in music education to speak at the Music Education Departmental. Additional speakers are invited throughout the year to present to specific populations within the division: vocal, string, instrumental. The series has included such notable speakers as Edwin Gordon, David Elliott, Christopher Azzara, Tim Lautzenheiser, and Andrew Litton. The music education faculty members believe that these sessions are so important that attendance is required for the one departmental meeting that is held for all music education students each semester. Absences will be assigned to any music education-related courses taken during the semester of the departmental.

PROFICIENCIES

Concentration Proficiency Requirements

Concentration assessments happen at two points in the degree: once to pass the upper division exam, and once to pass the concentration proficiency. Student teaching may not take place until the final concentration proficiency is passed. Students should see their private instructor regarding proficiency requirements and preparation.

Secondary Piano Proficiency Exam Requirements

There are three main sections to the Piano Proficiency Exam. This is a list of the general areas of the Piano Proficiency. Details of each section of the examination are given in the piano classes. The requirements for the proficiency are subject to change, so this list should not be considered official.

Music Reading

Open-Score Reading: You are to read a minimum of four parts in an open-vocal score at a slow tempo with accurate rhythm. You will be given five excerpts and your examiner will choose one of the excerpts for you to perform.

Sight Reading: You are to read at sight in a consistent tempo a solo of moderate difficulty. You should demonstrate the ability to simplify when necessary to maintain style and continuity.

Transposing: You are to read and transpose at sight a simple melody and accompaniment to any key.

Technique

Scales and Arpeggios: You must play your scales and arpeggios with the correct fingering: major and parallel harmonic minor scales 4 octaves, 4 notes per beat at M.M. 69; major and minor arpeggios 4 octaves, 4 notes per beat at M.M. 50; and dominant seventh and diminished seventh arpeggios 3 octaves, 3 notes per beat at M.M. 60.

Repertoire

Solo: You must prepare and perform a complete work or movement (minimum of two pages in length) by memory. The solo must be approved by the Director of Group Piano Studies.

Accompaniment: You must prepare and perform an accompaniment (approximately two pages in length) with a soloist.

STUDENT REVIEW

The purpose of Student Review is to ensure that students have acquired basic musicianship skills needed for successful teaching. The process examines students' sight-singing and error detection skills. Vocal students are additionally tested on their classroom piano skills; instrumental students are additionally tested on their knowledge of transpositions and fingerings.

Specifically:

Fingerings and transpositions will be taught and assessed formally in MUED 4109. Choral score reading and vocal warm-ups will be taught and assessed formally in MUED 4203 and folk song harmonization will be taught and assessed formally in MUED 4103.

An error detection test and a sight-singing test will be given for each core music education course (except MUED 2310, 4209, and 4203) to be taken during the semester in which the course is taken. The tests for MUED 3100, 3200, 4103, and 4109 are all different and students must take error detection and sight-singing in each core course taken to document mastery. The test will be videotaped by music education TAs in room 307. The tapes will be assessed by the professor of that course.

Testing Schedule

October and February: MUED 4103; MUED 4109

November and March: MUED 3100, MUED 3200

December and April: Retakes

Any student who does not pass the formal assessment of fingerings, transpositions, piano skills, error detection or sight singing will be given an "I" for the semester. To remove the "I" students will need to retake the needed component. Any "I" that is not removed within one year will become an "F".

NOTE The College of Music usually requires you to attend a MANDATORY meeting before the first class day of student teaching.. Look for information concerning this meeting to be printed on the laminated handout given to you during your initial interview.

EXAMINATIONS FOR TEACHER CERTIFICATION

Two examinations are required for teacher certification in Texas. One examines knowledge of professional issues, and the other tests the music content for all parts of the music curricula. Both exams are taken during the student teaching or last semester of enrollment at UNT. Beginning September 1, 2003, the professional examination is called the TEXES (Texas Examinations of Educator Standards). Applicants for All-Level Music Certification choose the Pedagogy and Professional Responsibilities (EC-12) exam of the TEXES. The music examination is the All-Level Music portion of the ExCET (Examination for Certification for Educators in Texas). Procedures to be followed in registering to take the TEXES and the ExCET are determined by the UNT College of Education. See website www.coe.unt.edu/texas. The Student Advising Office in College of Education in Matthews Hall 105 announces the schedules and registration procedures and distributes the schedules, application booklets, free study guides and registration forms for all tests. Study guides are found on website www.sbec.state.tx.us. That website also lists how to apply for certification and how to apply for a fingerprint packet. Choose Study Guides 160 for the Pedagogy & Professional Responsibility (EC-12) and 177 Music (EC-12). The College of Education offers a competency or “practice” test for the Pedagogy and Professional Responsibilities Examination (EC-12) portion of the exam which is not mandatory but is helpful. See website www.coe.unt.edu/texas for deadlines and procedures to apply for the TEXES tests.

Applying for the Certification

Texas Teacher Certification is accepted by most states in the United States. It is easier to complete requirements for a second certificate or to add certification in a different subject area than to meet all requirements for receiving an initial certificate.

At the time of graduation you must apply for teacher certification. Application is made to the State Board of Educator Certification (SBEC)—online only, at www.sbec.state.tx.us--link Online Services for Educators. The state will assess a fee for certification. On the form you will state that the University of North Texas (University Based) is the recommending entity for certification.
